Introduction

Self-assessment Skills Recognition Tool Kit

This self-assessment tool kit has been developed by ICAN Learn an arm of the Indigenous Consumer Assistance Network (ICAN) to assist potential students undertake a self-assessment before requesting Recognition of Prior Learning.

Activities carried out as part of a Skills Recognition process remain confidential between the candidate and ICAN Learn.

ICAN Learn does not provide skills recognition material nor resources until the candidate is enrolled.

This Tool Kit is specific to Certificate IV Community Services CHC42015. ICAN Learn delivers this qualification to build a specific practice context for community workers who want to work or are working in a financial capability related role.

Community services work with a financial literacy elective stream requires:

- Competencies that relate to a broad variety of areas including assessing the client, ability to develop rapport and skills to educate consumers about financial rights. This work requires a solid understanding of the ethics and principles of social justice.
- An understanding of the life situations for people in our community and includes knowledge and skills to work with vulnerable people including those who may be at risk of homelessness or suffer from complex issues.

What is Skills Recognition?

Skills Recognition is the general term given to a formal assessment process that measures the candidate's skills and knowledge from previous study, training, work, or life experiences against the outcomes of the course in which they require a qualification. The 3 categories in which skills can be recognised are:

- Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

This is a process which acknowledges that people learn in many ways and that learning may have been obtained through formal learning, non-formal or informal learning or a combination of all. The candidate's skills, training and experiences are assessed against the requirements of the qualification they require.

- Recognition of Current Competence (RCC)

This is a process through which the candidate may need to be re-assessed against a qualification they already have, to make sure that their competence is current. This is particularly relevant for licensing authorities.

- Credit Transfer

If the candidate has completed accredited or formal training previously or at another registered training organisation, ICAN Learn will recognise the units of study and associated competence, giving the candidate a credit transfer for the same units in the qualification they apply for. The unit codes must be identical to those in the course the student enrolls in to be granted CT.

This toolkit focuses on self-assessment across these areas.

What is Competence?

Competence is the demonstration of skills and knowledge that the candidate has gained through life and work experiences as well as any training they have successfully completed that can be matched against a set of industry performance standards referred to as units of competency. These units are grouped together to form a specific industry qualification. In this toolkit we have grouped related units into clusters.
